Reinforcement sensitivity theory (RST) proposes three brain-behavioral systems that underlie individual differences in sensitivity to reward, punishment, and motivation. While not originally defined as a theory of personality, the RST has been used to study and predict anxiety, impulsivity, and extraversion. The theory evolved from Gray's biopsychological theory of personality to incorporate ...

Introduction. The training of domestic horses is traditionally reliant on negative reinforcement to prompt responses, together with positive reinforcement of desired responses and punishment of undesirable ones (McLean, 2005). These practices have changed little since domestication began some 6,000 years ago (Budiansky, 1997; Waran et al., 2002), and although effective, they were not developed ...
