An aqueous solution is a solution in which the solvent is water. It is mostly shown in chemical equations by appending (aq) to the relevant chemical formula. For example, a solution of table salt, or sodium chloride (NaCl), in water would be represented as  $\text{Na}^+ + \text{Cl}^-$  (aq). The word aqueous (comes from aqua) means pertaining to, related to, similar to, or dissolved in, water.

Mixture Basics Mixtures are absolutely everywhere you look. Most things in nature are mixtures. Look at rocks, the ocean, or even the atmosphere. They are all mixtures, and mixtures are about physical properties, not chemical ones. That statement means the individual molecules enjoy being near each other, but their fundamental chemical structure does not change when they enter the mixture.

Acids and bases have been known by their properties since the early days of experimental chemistry. The word "acid" comes from the Latin acidus , meaning "sour" or "tart," since water solutions of acids have a sour or tart taste. Lemons, grapefruit, and limes taste sour because they contain citric acid and ascorbic acid ( vitamin C).
