A few weeks ago, a short video of our Corridor of Curiosity caused a minor ripple on twitter with lots of people posting comments and asking questions. As a result, I was encouraged to give a bit more detail about the why, what and how of this latest addition to our school. I've been interested in developing the idea of a curiosity space ever since coming across the incredible Dr Matthew Mcfall.

It is a responsibility we are failing to meet. According to statistics from the U.S. Department of Education, the gap in eighth-grade reading and math test scores between low-income students and their wealthier peers hasn't shrunk at all over the past 20 years. (The gap between poor and wealthier fourth-grade students narrowed during those two decades, but only by a tiny amount.)

Intelligence To be intelligent you first have to know what being Intelligent is. And you also have to know what being ignorant is. Ignorant is just another word for "Not knowing".But not knowing is not always obvious or clearly understood.That's because learning is not fully understood. The more you learn the more you should realize what you didn't know.
