Solitude is a state of seclusion or isolation, i.e., lack of contact with people. It may stem from bad relationships, loss of loved ones, deliberate choice, infectious disease, mental disorders, neurological disorders or circumstances of employment or situation (see castaway). Short-term solitude is often valued as a time when one may work, think or rest without being disturbed.

While older persons are generally perceived as more mature and to possess greater credibility, psychological maturity is not determined by one's age. However, for legal purposes, people are not considered psychologically mature enough to perform certain tasks (such as driving, consenting to sex, signing a binding contract or making medical decisions) until they have reached a certain age.

Sept. 25, 2018-As a physician and public health expert, I was startled by two recent reports. We learned from a May 2018 Cigna survey that nearly 46 percent of Americans say they sometimes, or always, feel alone. In June, the federal government released data on our country's growing suicide problem: between 2000 and 2016, the age-adjusted suicide rate rose 30 percent, with an average rise of ...
