The three key goals you want to achieve with cognitive reframing. Negative frames or stories that you tell yourself about different life situations are always based on irrational core beliefs that lead to self-defeating thoughts, emotions and actions. It's like having a dark cloud above your head and seeing reality much darker than it is.

Cognitive reframing - it's not about what happens, but how ...

Scrum measures the wrong things. Techniques like burn down charts and planning poker put the focus on your ability to accurately estimate task duration, not your ability to create software that is delightful to use, meets your users' needs, keeps technical debt to a minimum, can be quickly and easily modified, has a small number of bugs, and doesn't require a small army of human QA testers ...
